Abstract Sculpture

Boston and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts have offered hope and refuge for immigrants looking to begin new lives

This park is a gift to the people of the Commonwealth and the City of Boston from the Armenian-American community of Massachusetts

The sculpture is offered in honor of the one and one-half million victims of the Armenian Genocide of 1915–1923

May it serve in remembrance of all genocides that have followed, and celebrate the diversity of the communities that have reformed in the safety of these shores

Peace Form One

I have a number of very strong biases

I have a deep-seated bias against hate and intolerance

I have a bias against racial and religious bigotry

I have a bias against war, a bias for peace

I have bias which leads me to believe in the essential goodness of my fellow man, which leads me to believe that no problem of human relations is ever insoluble

I have a strong bias in favor of the United Nations and its ability to maintain a peaceful world

Peace, to have meaning for many who have known only suffering in both peace and war must be translated into bread or rice, shelter, health, and education, as well as freedom and human dignity

Restare

To stay, to rest, to remain

I disapprove of what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it

For democracy is fragile

For humanity must be claimed

For You who make a difference

For the relatives who are left

For freedom has a price
